

Allison Seguin, Hearing Instrument Specialist

hear more Canada

With over three years experience as a Hearing Instrument Specialist, Allison Seguin is focused on delivering the best possible patient care and helping people live more through better hearing. She has fit many hearing aids and utilizes her education and experience to customize each and every fitting for her clients. Allison graduated with high distinction from the Conestoga College Hearing Instrument Specialist Program and also earned a BA from Western University.

Are you confused by all the hearing aid advertisements you see?

- Incentives and discounts that sound unreasonable and too good to be true?
- Free limited time trials... but thought you already had a 90-day trial period?
- Responded to one of these ads and found out the rules or offer changed once you arrived?
- How do they do it?

Come to Hear More Canada... where we always provide straightforward and honest hearing healthcare.

- 1 Allison will test your hearing for free and determine if hearing aids are appropriate. If they are, she will detail your options from a wide selection of manufacturers... not just one. Allison will recommend what is best suited for you, your lifestyle and your hearing loss.
- 2 Bring us that ad that sounds too good to be true and if it is true, we will beat it by $50. Our funding experts will exhaust all efforts to get you maximum funding towards your hearing aids. At Hear More, our everyday prices are the same as many companies offering "unbelievable" and "limited time" discounts.
- 3 We believe your hearing healthcare should be managed by a professional like Allison who will respectfully and openly listen to your hearing concerns and create a plan to maximize your success with hearing aids.

Now Open in Ingersoll
at 99 Thames Street South

519.425.1783

www.hearmore.ca