

PB'S FRENCH FRIES

ABOUT THE BUSINESS

Few food stops in Ingersoll are as recognizable as P.B.'s French Fries. A locally owned and operated food trailer business, P.B.'s has been proudly serving the community for over 60 years. Best known for their fresh-cut fries, the menu also features crowd favourites like poutines, smashburgers, and other comforting street food classics.

Today, P.B.'s operates from its flagship Airstream location at 92 Thames Street North, a second location in the Canadian Tire Plaza, and a dedicated events trailer that travels across Southwestern Ontario to cater weddings, festivals, and community events.

A LOCAL LEGACY

P.B.'s French Fries was originally established in 1964 and named after its founder, Poebee Kolbus. Over the decades, the business has become woven into the fabric of Ingersoll — a place where generations of families have shared meals, memories, and traditions.

For Daniel, the current owner, taking over P.B.'s wasn't just about running a food truck, it was about continuing a legacy. Having grown up in Ingersoll and even worked at P.B.'s as a high school student, the opportunity to purchase the business felt deeply personal. Rather than starting something entirely new, the goal was to honour the history of P.B.'s while modernizing and growing the brand, ensuring it remains a beloved community staple for years to come.

ROOTED IN COMMUNITY

Community connection has always been at the heart of P.B.'s French Fries. The business hires local high school students, giving many young people their very first job and helping them build confidence, responsibility, and leadership skills.

You'll also find P.B.'s at many community gatherings throughout the year, supporting local events and organizations through sponsorships and participation. From local theatre productions and sports teams to race car drivers, the business proudly invests back into the community that has supported it for generations.

GROWTH & MILESTONES

The past few years have marked an exciting period of growth for P.B.'s. In 2025, the business expanded with the opening of a second location in the Canadian Tire Plaza and introduced a brand new events trailer to support the growing demand for catering at weddings, festivals, and private events across the region.

That same year, the events trailer alone catered over 80 events, highlighting the popularity of P.B.'s signature food and the brand's continued expansion throughout Southwestern Ontario.

FRESH FOOD MADE WITH CARE

P.B.'s menu focuses on simple, delicious comfort food made with fresh ingredients and affordable prices. Whether you're stopping by for their famous fresh-cut fries, grabbing a poutine, or enjoying a smashburger, the goal remains the same: great food served with consistency and care.

The business is also available for event catering, making P.B.'s a popular choice for community festivals, private celebrations, and weddings.

FUN FACT

Just how popular are P.B.'s fries? On their busiest day last year, the team cut more than 2,000 pounds of potatoes — all fresh — in a single day. That's a lot of fries keeping Ingersoll happy!
